Police officials yesterday were inclined to discredit the story that James Delamater, ex-cashier of the Marine Bank and vice-president of the American Institute, was nearly killed by robbers at Twentyseventh-st. and Lexington-ave, on Thursday after An investigation was in progress, not because the family of the old man had asked for it, but because the reports in the newspapers had stirred Mary Daly and Gertrude Daly, sisters, fifteen and fourteen years old respectively, who live at No. 1,081 Tenth-ave., pleaded guilty yes-terday, before Judge Martine to a charge of stealing clothing from school cloak-rooms. The elder girl was sent to the House of the Holy Family and sentence was suspended in the case of the other.

January 15. Twenty-one managers for the new German Evancal Alliance were elected last night at a meeting held in the Dutch Reformed Church in East Houston-st. The Alliance is to perform the same work ng German Protestants that the older Evangelical Alliance does among English-speaking Protestants. The Board of Managers of the Produce Exchange withdrew yesterday from the position it had assumed last week on the question of a ballot for closing the Exchange on the Monday before Christmas. The Board has now decided to give the members a chance to take a ballot. The Cotton Exchange decided by ballot on Saturday not to close on Monday and it is probable that the Produce Exchange will do likewise Fans with handles made of some variety of fragrant wood are having a run of popularity now. When two Italians save enough to buy a hig hand organ of the plane variety, mounted on a push cart, their fortunes are made. They count on from $2 to $5 a day to divide between them and they get it.

The man who is master of what slangy people call "the hat trick" can do no end of pretty things with if. Almost as much expression can be conveyed by a man in uncovering or not uncovering his head and the manner of doing it as a woman can with her fan.

DAMAGES FOR STOLEN GOODS. NO DEPRECIATION OF PAWNED ARTICLES

THE BURGLAR ALARMS DID NOT PROTECT AND THE JURY GAVE A DECISION IN FAVOR

OF THE PLAINTIFF. George H. Holt, of the firm of Taintor & Holt, pankers, No. 11 Wall-st., spent several months last ummer with his family at his country seat at syster Bay. Before going away he placed his house, No. 24 East Fifty-eighth-st., and its contents in the care of the Holmes Electric Protective Company. This corporation, under a contract made June 12, attached its burglar-alarm wires to every window and door, connecting them with the wires of the American District Telegraph Company, so that, on the possible throwing up of a sash or turning of a door its hinges by robbers, an alarm should be sounded. On the night of July 23 the house was entered by thieves, who robbed at their leisure and departed inmolested. On returning to the city Mr. Holt sued the company for the value of the articles stolen.

The most valuable articles stolen belonged to the plaintiff's wife. Among these were the following one yellow moire and black lace dress, worth $550 one blue velvet visiting costume, $250; one gree velvet dress, with silver trimmings, $150; one gray disiting costume, $70. There was also a fob and shain, worth $100. The total valuation of the stolen goods was $1,967 50.

The thieves were afterward captured by the vigi ance of Inspector Byrnes's detectives, and were sent io Sing Sing, where they are now serving their term. Lace valued at $400 and a Mexican fan worth $150 were recovered, and this reduced the amount sued for to $1,417 50. Among other items of loss were six quart bottles of champagne, of which the thieves and drunk three bottles during their undisturbed possession of the house, and two bottles of orange

The case was tried in the Superior Court before Justice Dugro and a jury. The testimony showed hat a cat's-eye and diamond ring, which the hurgiars and hypothecated, had been recovered from a pawnshop. Some of the dresses which had been pawned and also been recovered, but Mrs. Holt, on the witness-stand, said that she would not again wear dresses that had been pawned. The Judge held that aothing could be allowed for such alleged depreciation in value as was claimed to result from pawning the articles. For the defence it was claimed that the company could not be held liable for the failure of the electric apparatus to work, and they produced as witnesses employes of the American District Telegraph Company, who swore that no alarm was sounded in their office when the house was entered.

The case was given to the jury yesterday and a rerdict of $627.50 was rendered for the plaintiff. William M. Safford appeared for the plaintiff and Burton N. Harrison for the defendant.

FORMING A FEATHER TRADE ASSOCIATION. A meeting was held on Saturday afternoon at the Metropolitan Hotel of the feather manufacturers of this city with a view to forming an association for the mutual advantage of those employed in the manufacture of ostrich and other feathers throughout the United States. The call for the meeting was signed by he entire local trade, including M. J. Taylor & Co., Joseph Kaufmann & Co., Hanson & Green, Stein & Heilbron, Joseph Loewenstein, the Cohnfeld Company, E. Capel & Sons, B. Simon & Co., J. Leopold, Betting & Mazzur, Vanderroest Brothers, E. Moch & Co., F. C. Conner & Co., L. E. Balmy, E. Michel, Henry Fatton and Crane & Co.

Mr. Kaufmann, of Joseph Kaufmann & Co., took the chair, and Charles Stewart Davison, who reprethe chair, and Charles Stewart Davison, who repre-sented the manufacturers in the recent proceedings before the State Board of Arbitration, acted as sec-retary. A resolution approving of the formation of an association similar to those which exist in almost all other trades was unanimously passed, and a gen-eral discussion as to the objects of such an associa-tion followed. It was determined to circulate among the manufacturers at large a statement of the general objects of such an association.

THE STREET CAR VENTILATORS.

The attention of Health Commissioner Bryant was called vesterday to a report that the conductor of a Broadway car had kept the ventilators in the roof open on a freezing cold day, despite the protests of passengers, and had said that he was obeying the of the Health Board. "I know of no recent action of the board about Ventilating street cars," Dr Bryant said, "but there was some such action taken years ago on my suggestion, when I was a sanitary He looked at the Sanitary Code and found a section which was amended in 1878 so as to declare "that every car used for the transportation of passengers in the City of New-York shall be constructed as at all times to provide and secure good and ventilation."

"If I am to be killed," Dr. Bryant continued, "I would rather be frozen to death than suffocated. All that the Health Board has done is to see that means of ventilation is provided in every car. It stands to reason that a conductor can open or close the ventilators as the occasion seems to demand."

HER MONEY NOT TO BE RETURNED. When Judson Jarvis, formerly order of arrest cleri in the Sheriff's office, died, his wife and administratrix Mary H. Jarvis, made claim to a policy of $2,500 on his life, which he had given to his mother, Sarah A. Jarvis. An order having been made placing the money paid on the policy in the hands of the City money paid on the policy in the hands of the City Chamberlain, Lawyer J. H. Hull, on behalf of the mother, sued for and obtained possession of the money. He consented to the payment of $500 to J. H. V. Arnold, counsel for the administratrix, and, it is alleged, kept the remainder. The mother applied to the Supeme Court for an order directing the return of the money paid to her counsel, declaring that she had not authorized its payment. The application of Mrs. Jarvis was denied yesterday by Justice Andrews.

HE SAYS HIS WIFE KILLED HERSELF. After several witnesses had corroborated the testimony previously given in regard to the murder of Bridget Carolin by her husba d, Ferdinand Carolin, the case for the people was closed in the Court of Oyer and Terminer before Presiding Judge Van Brunt and a jury yesterday. For the defence Carolin was placed upon the stand. He said that his wife on the day of her the stand. He said that his wile on the day of her death drank a great deal of beer and after much wrangling threatened to get him into trouble by killing herself. Then he struck her and a minute after she seized the hatchet and struck herself twice on the head with it. This killed her. Witnesses will be examined to-day as to Carolin's character and the case will be given to the jury.

EDWARD ANTHONY'S FUNERAL. A large number of the friends of Edward Anthony were present at his home, No. 715 Madison-ave., yesterday afternoon, when the funeral was held. The Rev. Dr. Thompson, of the Memorial Church, preached the funeral sermon and conducted the services, as sisted by the Rev. Dr. Taylor, of Newark, N. J. There were present among others: Noah C. Rogers, Richard B. Harnett, Charles T. Fredericks, E. P. Balker, Colonel Wilcox, J. Curney, Scott Foster, F. P. Fre-man, W. Irving Adams, and A. Bogardus. The body will be buried at Greenwood Cemetery this morning.

THE FUNERAL OF DR. WILDER. The respect and friendship which Dr. Rufus L. Wilder, chief bookkeeper of the Department of Public Charities and Correction, who died on Saturday, had won among his associates was attested by the large number of them who attended the funeral, which was conducted last night at his home, No. 113 West One-hundred-and-thirty-fifth-st. There were present Commissioner Thomas Bren-nan, Commissioner J. Edward Simmons, Warden Roberts, of the Charity Hospital; Warden Osborne, of the Tomba Prison; William N. Penney, of the District-Attorney's office: Charles A. O'Rourke, a committee from the Press Club, and a delegation of clerks from the Department of Club, and a delegation of clerks from the Department of Public Charttles and Correction. The Rev. Dr. James S. Ramsey read the Presbyterian burial service, and paid a high tribute to the memory of Dr. Wilder. The Masonic service was then conducted by Master Thomas A. Stewart of Kane Lodge, of which Dr. Wilder was a member. The burial will be in Trinity Cemetery this

Ann O'Dells Salor.on, alias Diss Debar, the spirit medium who came near swinding Luther R. Marsh, the lawyer, out of his house and home by her alleged production of "spirit-paintings," will be released from Biackwell's Island Penitentiary at 8:30 this morning. She was committed to the Island, having been found guilty of conspiracy, on June 19, and was followed by her fellow-conspirator, "General" Diss Debar, the next day The "General," therefore, will not be released until tomorrow. During the "medium's" term, she was kept busy in the sewing department, usually with the manufacture of shrouds for dead paupers. "Madame Diss Debar" has made preparations for her departure in the form of new garments, the purchase of which was negotiated for her by spiritualist friends of hers. It is said that she proposes to go on a lecturing tour in a costume which will be the counterpart of her prison garb.
